Chapter 1

Ravenpaw slowly closed his eyes, slowly feeling the pain ebbing away. Opening his eyes, he gasped for air, and slo for the sudden blinding light.

Soon after recovering from shock, he glanced around him. What he saw surprised him in a way, that he curled into a ball-shape. When he was finally a sensible tom, he mewed out to the lush forest "Hello? " Starting to explore it's depths.

Walking around the forest, he saw cats he thought known to be dead alive! mewing greetings to them, he continued on. He had finally understood where he was. He was in Starclan, for many moons of absence from the clans he had since lost hope in seeing the clans or the forest.

Upon seeing a ginger silhouette, he knew who it was instantaneously. " Firestar! Am I so glad to see you!" The silhouette turned to him, emerald eyes gleaming.

"Welcome, Starclan is proud to have you back...
But we need to talk..."

- sorry it was so short but I've been busy the past few days but I hope to see people reading ! ^ [grace]

Chapter 2 - Fury

As, Firestar trotted through the forest. He told ravenpaw of all that has happened in the clans in his absence. From him leaving and to firestars death.

Ravenpaw was introduced to many cats some born before him, some after him. "Ashfur, Hollyleaf, Rainflower..." He mumbled on, "How will I remember all their names?"
" You will in do time." Spoke a beautiful Blue-gray she-cat.
"Bluestar! D-d-don't scare me like that!" Bluestar then steeped from the shadows into Ravenpaw's sight. She had snickered at the idea of him scared. " You never were a brave tom, were you?"
" I, in fact am quite brave!"
Bluestar narrowed her eyes at Ravenpaw "Prove it."
Those two words made Ravenpaw rage at her, yowling in fury. Leaped into the air twisting for a attack.

Update :/

Hey ! umm sorry for no recent chapters,but I really need more people to read this. Man, sometimes I just wish I was as popular as some writers here.

CHAPTER 3;

As Ravenpaw leaped at her, a golden blur knocked him down.Suddenly, as soon as he realized what was going on, he was pinned. "Lionheart, let me go! You fox-heart!" I hissed. When he let go Ravenpaw crouched, eyes in slits. "Ravenpaw what has gotten into you!?" mewed Bluestar "I was joking around with you!" Hissing, Ravenpaw muttered "Didn't seem like it..." As he said that, he had noticed every cat had left leaving him crouched in a starry forest

More stuff;
I'll write Longer chapter when I have more viewers.

Chapter 4

Ravenpaw always thought Starclan had abandoned him, yet he still had a glimmer of hope. Crouched down on the lush green ground, Ravenpaw thought and thought. 'Every cat, here in Starclan still have friends, family, and lives here in the forest. ' Eyes turned to slits, he thought ' The forest. This is just an imitation of it, Not where I belong...'

After a few hours of sulking, he moved around. Hissing he followed cats, mostly just leaders. " Something's up around here. And it's fishy." As he said that, A flash of brown fur came down through the trees. Mewing, Oakheart was emerging through the braken he landed in. " Hey Ravenpaw!" After saying that his voice and gaze hardened. " I heard of your little escapade yesterday. I'm ashamed..." Rage burning through him, he hissed back " Well it was your fox-heart of a mate, who edged me on!" Huffing in anger, Ravenpaw backed away in fury. Oakheart had called to him and said something but Ravenpaw was too mad to hear him properly.

~~~~~~After a few months I'm trying again with this book. but ill need more support from all of you.. ❤□❤□❤□❤□
